OBITUARY.

Henry Taylor.

Henry Taylor, aged 18 years, died late Wednesday night at St. Joseph's hospital. Mr. Taylor was taken to the institution after weeks ago, suffering from appendicitis, and after the operation seemed to be improving, but pneumonia developed and death resulted from the latter disease. He had been living with John Monti at Scotland, having been taken out of the county home two years ago. No near relatives are known to survive.

LUCIUS DOUGLASS' HOUSE

Destroyed by Fire—Barn and Contents Burned Also.

The buildings on the old Lucius Douglass place, about two miles north of Warrenville, were destroyed by fire late Wednesday night. The fire was discovered a little after 11 o'clock; it is unknown how it originated. There was no way of staying the progress of the flames and in a very short time the dwelling with its contents was burned to the ground and soon the barn nearby, with contents, was also consumed. The property was owned by Mike Vernace, who is now employed in

WHEN you want to put your business before the public, there is no medium better than through the advertising columns of The Bulletin.

"The Dollars of the Daddies"

You know how hard they were earned, how carefully they were husbanded, how judiciously they were invested.

The dollars grew into hundreds, the hundreds into houses, into farms, into wise and profitable business investments. These "dollars of the daddies" are the basis of our present prosperity. They were not lured into speculation, or into risky investments. The "daddies" demanded security and accepted the returns absolute safety gave.

What about your dollars? Are they absolutely safe? Make them so by starting an account with this institution at once and allow your mind to be relieved from all attendant worries occasioned by questionable financial deals.

Pythians' 36th Anniversary — Jewel Presented to Old Charter Member—Supreme Officer Speaks.

Undaunted lodge, No. 34, K. of P. celebrated its thirty-sixth anniversary on Thursday evening in Castle hall, in Funn's opera house. The room had been decorated with red, blue and yellow crepe paper and a large flag. Seventy-five members and their friends, with the grand officers were present. A program of several delightful numbers was given. C. C. Ernest M. Blake announced the program, including a welcome to the lodge by the president, Mr. Lewis said that he had not been in the lodge for thirty-three years. He spoke of the formation of the lodge and the response of thirty charter members. W. H. Tift was the only one left here in town. There are only five living charter members. He then gave a resume of the work of the lodge and its place of meeting. Misses Marian Robinson and Dorothy Moore sang The Butterfly. With Mrs. F. Robinson as accompanist, Miss Grace Jacobs gave a recitation entitled How Rubenstein Played the Piano. Mr. Blake then introduced Supreme Representative William J. Frost, who said that the lodge has been formed forty-five years with a glorious record. There are nearly 8,000 lodges with 75,000 members. The lodge is friendly, charitable and benevolent. He then gave statistics as to the number of lodges and members in the various states. The order is here to demonstrate a fact that the members are fulfilling the law of love or charity.

A solo entitled The Past and Future was rendered by R. L. Frost, accompanied by Mrs. Frost. Mrs. George W. Robinson read a selection entitled The Jesters, and responded to an encore from the Pythians. Ours to Be Dr. George Soule of Wickford was asked to offer a few remarks and referred to his father, who so often had addressed the order. He spoke of mixing the old faces and referred to Mr. Tift as the only charter member present and how he had followed the various workings of the order. He then presented the jewel of the order to Mr. Tift as an expression of the love and appreciation of the members to their charter member. Mr. Tift responded with a few heartfelt words. The program closed with a solo, The Swallows, sung by Miss Mabel Young. A hearty encore was given her and she sang When I A Bird of Air in response. Mrs. Frost accompanied her. Refreshments were served by Mrs. George Robinson, Mrs. Ernest Blake, Mrs. L. P. Lewis and Mrs. Jacob Webster.

After refreshments were served there was speaking by other officers of the grand lodge and the following members of the local lodge: William Johnstone, William Root, J. P. Gorman, Lafayette Kinney and Frank Robinson. The grand officers present were C. C. Ernest M. Blake, William J. Frost, K. R. and S. Horace O. Case of Hartford, G. L. G. George E. Wright of Hartford, Supreme Representative William J. Frost of New Haven and D. D. C. Jacob Webster. The committee in charge were C. C. E. M. Blake, M. of P. G. W. Robinson and V. C. Jacob Webster. They were assisted by Mrs. G. W. Robinson, Mrs. B. M. Blake and Mrs. Jacob Webster.

There was a bad chimney fire in the Carroll block on Anthony street at 8:30 Thursday evening. The house owned by William J. Frost was the one burned. The fire was caused by a chimney and the flames spread to the adjacent building.

The New Gold Certificates.

The new tendollar gold certificates will bear the portrait of the late ex-President Cleveland, and this is a thoroughly considered and a paper move. President Cleveland was a "round money" man when it cost him considerable in the way of support from his party to be. He was not afraid to think "gold" to say "gold" and, when time for action came, to support the thought and word with appropriate deeds. The great objection to him on the part of what was subsequently the Bryan wing of his party was his alleged subservience to the gold interests. Time has justified the supporters of the single standard, even if the demand for silver as subsidiary money grows greater with the needs of trade and commerce—Bridgeport Standard.

The Same Shady.

Ex-Governor Utter of Rhode Island when in Holyoke Sunday paid a fine compliment to Michael Shady, owner of the string of Shady's Taverns. Manager Daniel Casey was introduced to the ex-governor, whose home is in Westerly, R. I. and in course of conversation said: "We have a thesaur in your town." "Is that so?" said Mr. Utter. "What one is it?" Mr. Casey said "Shady's." "Oh, is that the same Mr. Shady?" said the governor. "Well, I want to say for Mr. Shady that he pays his bills and he pays them promptly."—Holyoke Transcript.

How Governor Stubbs Met His Fate.

When Governor Stubbs was 25 years old he went out with a doctor's help and a contract to provide food for the construction gangs working on the Mulvane branch of the Santa Fe. Mulvane was his headquarters. Mulvane was then, and is still, a prosperous village in the extreme northeast corner of Sumner county, and is but a few miles from the headquarters. There was no mail delivery system in Mulvane, and young Stubbs went to the postoffice along with the rest of the population to get whatever mail there might be. That he should receive his checks and drafts and letters and so on from the hands of Miss Stella Hostetter, the pretty daughter of the postmaster, was inevitable, and it wasn't long after he had received his first letter that he had made it inevitable that he should also receive the hand of his courtship was short, and they were soon married. That was in 1856. You will not have to talk with Mr. Stubbs very long to find that he did not understand the situation and business success from the date on which he "took in a partner for life."—Kansas City Journal.

"Please don't say anything more about Roosevelt," is the very hard request we have received from one of our dearest friends. But she evidently does not understand the situation. As we talk about not breathing the air not sitting in the sunshine, not observing Lent, not playing bridge, not attending the baseball games, or the Country club teas, or not talking about our ancestors, as to "shut up" about Roosevelt. He is a part of American life. He won't shut up himself.

Taft Disapproved Roosevelt's Praise.

The following extract from a letter of the president-elect shows not only the spirit in which Judge Taft prosecuted his work in the Philippines but the importance of the work which he regarded as his duty.

"You may perhaps have seen Roosevelt's speech at Harvard in which he flatters Root and Wood and me. I confess that, while I value the good feeling and generous spirit he manifests toward me in saying such things, for once in my life I agree with the Evening Post in deprecating the representation that we are sacrificing ourselves when we ought to be rejoicing on the opportunities we have for such interesting work. I am not a martyr, nor am I sacrificing anything. I count myself very fortunate to be where hard work may do some good. If things were put in Roosevelt in this way, I know he would agree; but he was led away by what he regards as the unjust criticisms and lack of appreciation of us. No one ever did work in a public way without accomplishing anything that he did not encounter the opposition of good, conscientious men, as well as that of the politician and the scoundrel, and it is useless, in my judgment, to pay much attention to such opposition, though it appears in respectable journals."—March Century.

As a guarantee that the story of Father John's Medicine is absolutely true, the sum of $25,000 will be given to any charitable institution if it can be shown otherwise.

Half a century ago, when the late Father John O'Brien of Lowell, Mass., recommended to his parishioners and friends the prescription that had restored him to health and strength, the people named it Father John's Medicine.

Its power to make strength and build up the body explains why it cures Colds and all Throat and Lung troubles.
